

KEEP YOUR CHILD HOME IF...

- Fever of 37°C (99°F) or higher.
- Experiencing vomiting or diarrhea.
- Experiencing persistent coughing or difficulty breathing.
- Have an undiagnosed rash/skin irritation which could be contagious.
- Exhibiting signs of fatigue/lethargy.
- Showing mild symptoms: ear infection, pain, or drainage.
- Showing symptoms of eye infection: redness, discharge, sensitivity to light, or a runny nose.
- Experiencing sore throat or swollen glands.
- Experiencing pain/discomfort which is not relieved by over-the-counter pain medication.
- Cannot participate comfortably in regular activities (including going outside).
- Need more than the caregiver can provide without affecting health and safety of other children.

Children may return when symptoms have subsided, they are well enough to participate, and the applicable exclusion periods have been observed.
